

PHONE RATE MATTER WILL PROBABLY BE CARRIED TO COURTS

Fight Centers Around
Valuation; Verdict
Expected

COLUMBUS, O., April 18.—The Ohio Bell Telephone Company's rate case, which has been pending before the state utilities commission for approximately six years, today inconspicuously faced the end and the beginning—the end of the prolonged fight before the utilities commission, and, it is expected, the beginning of a court battle.

After a three-day hearing, in which the state attorneys and representatives of the Bell concern wrangled over the technicalities of "hook" and reproduction costs, the state utilities commission took the case under advisement, and unless the commission unexpectedly repeals the hearing for additional testimony, a decision is expected in the near future.

The whole fight centers around the valuation of the telephone company's properties—for the higher the valuation, the higher the rates.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, who is the generalissimo of the forces of the forty-six Ohio cities and towns which will be directly affected by the case, declared that the "fair" valuation was approximately $84,000,000.

Attorneys for the Ohio Bell declared that, figuring the reproduction cost, the "fair" valuation of the company's properties was about $144,000,000.

In a compromise move later, the telephone company argued that the valuation should be figured on the basis of "hook" cost, which materially lowered the company's valuation by about $30,000,000.

If the decision of the commission does not place the valuation of the company's properties within about $8,000,000 of its own valuation, the case is expected to be carried to the Ohio Supreme Court.

The telephone company is collecting its proposed increased rates under bond now. It has filed security totaling $20,000,000 with the State Utilities Commission for the privilege.

Officials of the telephone company estimate that they have collected $112,000 in disputed rates. If the commission and the courts should fix the rates lower than they are at present, the huge sum would be refunded to telephone users in Ohio.

Cities directly affected include Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Dayton, Massillon, Youngstown, Marietta, Akron, Barberton, Piquette, Steubenville, Niles, Girard, Toronto, Canton, Cuyahoga Falls, Talmadge and Middletown.

TWO BANDITS ARE CAUGHT BY POLICE

CLEVELAND, O., April 18.—Two men, one of them wounded, who are said by police to have admitted the attempted holdup of the Modern Drug Store Co., yesterday, were arrested here today.

The men were traced through the license number of the automobile in which they escaped after their attempted holdup of the drug store was frustrated by Fred Novich, manager of the store, police said. Novich shot one of the would-be bandits.

The two bandits entered the drug store yesterday and held Novich at bay with their weapons. A woman customer suddenly entered the store during the attempted holdup, distracting the would-be robbers.

Taking advantage of the opportunity, Novich seized a revolver and opened fire on the gunmen, wounding one of them. The bandits fled to the street and escaped in a waiting automobile.

BISHOP'S SON HELD IN MURDER PROBE

NEW YORK, April 18.—A 21-year-old youth who claims to be James Maxon, son of an Episcopal bishop of Chattanooga, Tenn., was held by police today for questioning in connection with the death of David Paynter, 73, who roomed in the same house.

Detectives were told by the proprietress of the West End Avenue rooming house that the youth and Paynter had an argument, and that the younger man struck Paynter with a chair.

Doctors could not determine whether Paynter died from the blow or from a fall. A fractured skull caused death.

The youth is quoted by police as saying he was intoxicated at the time.

He gave police an address in Chattanooga: 905 Oak St., is of his father, who he said, is Episcopal bishop.

REPEAL VOTE STILL LEADING LITERARY DIGEST'S DRY POLL

Every State Is Heard
From; Kansas Is
"Bone Dry"

NEW YORK, April 18.—The vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment continues to lead with over 41 per cent of the total of 3,175,572 ballots returned from the entire forty-eight states in the sixth week's returns of the Literary Digest's nationwide poll on prohibition as published in tomorrow's issue.

The break-up of the grand total gives 915,681 votes for enforcement, 951,475 for modification, and 1,308,416 for repeal.

This shows over 28 per cent of the total vote for strict enforcement while practically 30 per cent favor modification to legalize light wines and beers.

With the poll still far from complete the Literary Digest announces the returns to date as greater now than total returns from any previous poll ever undertaken by the periodical, including the national referendum in the Hoover-Smith campaign of 1928.

Dr. William Weaver Woods, editor-in-chief, stated he anticipates nearly 2,000,000 more returns in the poll judging from present incoming ballots.

With first returns from Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and Wyoming this week every state, and the District of Columbia, is represented in the tabulations. The addition of these newcomers effected little change in the percentages of the totals, it is stated.

Kansas continues to be the only bone dry state to date with almost 58 per cent of its vote for enforcement and only 18 per cent of its returns for repeal.

Connecticut, Louisiana, New Jersey, and Rhode Island each gave a majority of their vote for repeal.

Connecticut appears to have the wettest sentiment of all the states with over a 50 per cent vote for repeal and but 18 per cent for enforcement. Rhode Island is a close second. These are the only two states in the union that have never ratified the eighteenth amendment.

The driest vote by national geographical sections is registered in the west south central states, which includes Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and the west state of Louisiana.

The wettest sentiment is noted in the middle Atlantic states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The Literary Digest states that it is being attacked more for the undertaking of this poll than any previous one. Five pages of the current issue of the magazine are devoted to comments on the "straw" referendum from women throughout the country.

The Literary Digest announces that both the wet and the drys seem to be claiming the vote for modification, which approaches one-third of the total returns, and that for purpose of compromise it suggests dividing this vote between the two extreme wings of the controversy, which split between them, would make a total vote for enforcement of 1,291,419 and 1,784,554 for repeal.

"An increasing number of our dry friends," the Literary Digest states editorially, "are claiming the modification vote as a legitimate part of their outfit. They are lumping it with the enforcement vote and crediting the total to the policy of retaining the eighteenth amendment."

UNEMPLOYMENT NO EXCUSE

CINCINNATI, O., April 18.—Unemployment, says Robert R. Nevins, United States district judge, Cincinnati, is no excuse for bootlegging and he will absolutely not consider it in that light in his court.

Judge Nevins' statement came as the result of several pleas by attorneys during the past week that their liquor-indicted clients had to resort to bootlegging in order to make a living.

Light sentences for illicit liquor violations, according to Judge Nevins, only serve to make the public believe that they can bootleg and "get away with it."

WOMAN WOUNDED BY REJECTED SUITOR

CHICAGO, April 18.—Shot twice because she refused to marry her suitor, Mrs. Marjorie Ryan, 45, was near death here today after William Costello, 60, shot her and then plunged to his death from the window of their twelfth floor suite in the Great Northern Hotel.

Other guests who rushed in after the shooting found Mrs. Ryan on the floor trying to crawl away from the room. Costello, flourishing the revolver with which he had shot the woman, threatened the guests.

Before help could be summoned Costello went back to his room, hurriedly penned a suicide note and leaped out of the window. His body struck a parked car on Quincy St., downtown thoroughfare, and then fell through a steel sidewalk grating to the basement.

Costello's note read: "This for being a double crosser."

CLEVELAND, O., April 18.—Bradford Granfield of Sandusky, was expected here today to claim the body of his father, William B. Granfield, 54, traveling salesman, who committed suicide last night by jumping from the window of his room on the ninth floor of a downtown hotel here.

The elder Granfield took his death leap while Ivan Ogilvie, Chicago traveling salesman and friend of the man, was telephoning Bradford Granfield at the father's request.

Ill health and business reverses were believed to have been responsible for the man's suicidal act. In a note addressed to his family, Granfield said: "It seems I can't shake this mental feeling. I am tired and seem but crazy to try to carry on each week."

Campbell, in his sixties, had hoped to the last for executive clemency. His wife, who had remained faithful to him throughout the trial and sentence, was permitted to talk with him in the death-house for half an hour shortly before the electrocution.

STATE AIR DIRECTOR SAYS GAS TAX SHOULD ASSIST AIR LINES

COLUMBUS, O., April 18.—John M. Vorys, state director of aeronautics, was on record today as advocating that the tax income received from gasoline which is used in aviation be spent on "state highways for aviation."

Vorys' recommendation, which was revealed in his first annual report to Governor Cooper, stated that to burden aviation with a tax for roads was unfair and that the gasoline tax law should be revised to exempt assessment on

PRESIDENT HOOVER WILL SEND TREATY TO SENATE AT ONCE

Sounds Chances For Ratification At Summer Season

WASHINGTON, April 18.—President Hoover plans to send the three-power naval treaty to the senate for ratification as soon as it is received here, provided there is a reasonable chance of its being acted upon before the summer adjournment. If not, the treaty probably will not be submitted until next December.

This was the situation today, as it crystallized from a number of conferences the president has been holding with senate leaders this week.

Mr. Hoover is desirous of speedy action on the treaty and has sought diligently for assurance that it will be forthcoming. He has been unable thus far, however, to obtain assurance that the senate can act before June 1, the scheduled date of adjournment.

Just how much opposition there will be to the treaty is conjectural at this time.

Senate leaders, including Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, have informed Mr. Hoover they do not think there will be serious opposition provided the text, when received here, bars out the advance notices of its contents cabled from London. There will be some criticism, they say, but unless close examination of the text discloses something not hitherto revealed in the cabled advice they do not anticipate any extended battle.

Senator Hale (R) of Maine, chairman of the senate naval committee, however, is going to insist upon hearings on the treaty in order to give members of the general board an opportunity to express their opinion about its effect on the American navy.

These hearings probably would consume some time—probably too much time to permit ratification in the short period between its submission and the scheduled adjournment date.

One part of the treaty that is certain to come in for extended criticism by the "big navy" group is that which specifies that the United States shall not complete more than fifteen eight-inch gun cruisers before 1935.

The treaty itself allocates to the United States eighteen cruisers of the eight-inch gun type, as against Britain's fifteen. American preponderance in this type is offset by Britain's superiority in the six-inch gun class.

The senate critics are already saying that the clause limiting the American navy to fifteen of the larger cruisers up to 1935 is unfair, in that it insures British cruiser superiority until that time. While parity would exist in the large cruisers, it would not in the smaller cruisers. The "big navy" group obviously fears that by 1935 some method will be found for shelving again the construction of three eight-inch gun cruisers to which the navy is entitled under the yardstick agreement worked out in London.

While the president would like to see the senate ratify the treaty before adjournment, largely for the effect it would have abroad, there are, on the other hand, some advantages to having the regular session next December deal with it.

For one thing, in the December session there will be three staunch defenders of the treaty on the senate floor, unless plans go awry. There will be Senators Reed and Robinson, delegates to London, and in addition Dwight W. Morrow, another delegate, who is slated to take his seat then under appointment from the Governor of New Jersey.

With the passive, if not active support of Senator Borah, the treaty would be certain of being handled by its friends.

While Borah said he will not definitely commit himself until he can examine the treaty text, he so stated that he saw nothing in it, from this distance, to oppose. Borah believes the London conference fell far short of its objective, but that half a loaf is better than no loaf at all.

Expresses Appreciation to Kellogg Company for Relief

If you are troubled with constipation, this letter from Mr. John J. Mulligan, 300 So. Cicero Avenue, Chicago, Ill., will interest you:

"This is simply a letter of appreciation for the wonderful results I have obtained through the use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"For years, in fact ever since my return from France, I have been troubled with constipation and its companion ills. I tried numerous remedies in vain. Finally in desperation, not wishing to be a slave to laxatives all my life, I turned to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. The results were remarkable and quick—in fact the next day long-hoped-for relief became a happy reality."

The Kellogg Company has received thousands of similar letters in praise of ALL-BRAN, the product that is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

It also adds needed iron. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream . . . in soups, salads and fruit juices . . . in cooked foods and hot breads. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE STRONG MAN'S TASK—We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbor for his good to edification.—Romans 15:1, 2.

DON'T BE ALARMED

A member of parliament at Westminster asked the government what facilities it intended to provide for the repatriation of British subjects dismissed from employment in the United States, where there was no provision for unemployment relief, adding enough to show that he was under the impression that such subjects were being discriminated against on account of their nationality. Arthur Henderson, secretary of state for foreign affairs, stated in reply that he had no information showing that British subjects in the United States were treated less favorably in the matter of dismissals than other nationalities.

Strange tales get abroad. Out in western Canada advertisements for help used sometimes to end with the warning that no Englishmen need apply; but in this country, we have never heard of British subjects being discriminated against unless it was in un-Americanized districts, where old-world feuds survived. All nations look out for their own first, when it comes to employment. After the war France found it necessary to import tens of thousands of laborers from Italy, Belgium and other neighboring countries; but they lost their jobs and were invited to return to their homes, as soon as the French labor market was again able to supply the demand.

When jobs are at a premium a nation has a right to consider the needs of its own citizens first. As long as it provides for them without injustice to others and without showing partiality for or against any other nationality, why should other countries, which follow the same course under similar circumstances, allow themselves to be aroused by such action?

There is no unemployment dole in this country and it needs none; but we have yet to hear of any British subject or other person starving to death for want of work. Someone is trying to twist the eagle's tail.

TARIFF IN CONFERENCE

Business men who are anxious to see the long debated tariff question finally settled, are glad that the conference committee of the senate and house seems to be making progress. Fortunately this committee is attending strictly to business, and showing what can be done when political argument is relegated to the background.

It takes a tremendous amount of debate to bring a tariff bill up to the point where the two houses turn it over to a conference committee. Up to that time, too much time is always consumed in oratory, and the statesmen explain their position at too great length.

Such delays may be inevitable at present, under the pressure of conflicting interests. Some time the country will say that such questions must not be decided by political motives, but that we need a tribunal to adjust the tariff which shall weigh the rival claims of sections and interests as impartially as legal controversies are decided by the courts.

Now the French are blaming us for the appearance of the potato bug in their country. Sometimes we wonder why they don't blame us for being alive.

The WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

SAFE FOR STUPIDITY

Is our so-called civilization making the world safe for stupidity? Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam fears it is. If you take 1,000 Harvard graduates at the present birth rate among the alumni of those universities they will have but fifty descendants left within six generations. One thousand unskilled laborers at the present birth rate among the unskilled will have in six generations 100,000 descendants. Considerable difference between 50 and 100,000! But there are two reasons for hope. There is a saving remnant among the educated classes who are still raising large families. And there are a great many high grade, naturally intelligent folks among unskilled laboring people.

THE BIGGEST GIFT

Ministers ought to be happy men when they sit down for an evening's reading in "Who's Who in America." Ministers' sons out-number any other group in that volume. Preachers doubtless have their sad days like other folks. They must sometimes feel their work is dull, doubtful, futile. But so long as their sons form the single largest group among those who are accounted to be distinguished, they ought to be glad—glad they are making the biggest possible gift to the nation.

FOOLING A BOY

It can't be done. You can't fool a youngster. You may fool another grown-up because he may be so busy deceiving you that he won't notice what you are doing. He may be so engaged in protecting his own hypocrisy that he won't notice yours. Boys are naturally honest, most of them, and they have not learned to cover up. Their very honesty helps them to see through folks who pretend to be what they are not. Their clear eyes are like cameras. The picture they get may not be pretty but it's true.

THE JAIL HOBBY

An Englishman with money has a queer hobby. He buys up old jails. Henry Ford may take notice. Ford likes old houses and old taverns. Of course, buying up old jails in England is easier than in America. We have more use for jails here. Many of them are over-worked. Hard to get an old jail.

HOMES

Rich Americans have been known to buy ancient homes abroad, tear them down and set them up piece by piece in this country. But the trans-planting loses something. You can build a house of any material that will stick together and you can bring the boards or the bricks or the stones from the far corners of the earth. But you can't build a home that way. Home is an essence. Home is a spirit. Home is an idea that works.

CAUSE OF CRIME

Somebody asks the writer: What are the principal causes of crime in the United States? Let us write down four reasons: the over-valuation of money on the part of the average human; the delay in the courts and the unlikelihood that the criminal will be quickly punished (a situation quite different from that in England or Canada); poverty, brought on by over-production and faulty distribution; and finally, the failure of the attempted enforcement of prohibition.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

The fashion in which queries run in waves is an odd feature of a department like the "Question Box." With no explainable reason, and from widely-scattered points, came a flood of requests recently for information concerning the "sword speech" by Thomas Francis Meagher, organizer of the "Irish Brigade" of the Civil War period. Tracing it proved to be one of the most elusive tasks the "Question Box" ever has undertaken.

Prolonged search at the Congressional Library finally revealed what was decided on as the desired address, in the appendix to a book of appeals for Irish independence. Meagher, in exile in New York, because of his activities in this cause, responding to a set of resolutions adopted at a meeting of Hibernian sympathizers at the Astor House June 10, 1852, said: "To no other land could the heart, which has felt the rude hand of tyranny, so confidently turn for serene repose."

"Long may she prosper, continuing faithful to the inheritance left her by the fathers of the republic! Long may she prosper, gathering to the bosom of her great family the children of all nations, adding to her territory, NOT BY THE SWORD OF THE SOLDIER, or the subtlety of the statesman, but by the diffusion of her principles, and the consonance of her simple laws and institutions with the good sense and purer aspirations of mankind!"

LIVESTOCK

Are there more or less cattle and sheep in the United States than there were 20 years ago; 30 years ago?

In 1900 there were 67,719,000 cattle, 61,504,000 sheep, according to census figures. In 1910 there were 61,804,000 cattle and 52,448,000 sheep. In 1920, 66,640,000 cattle and 35,034,000 sheep. In 1929, 55,751,000 cattle and 47,171,000 sheep.

AMPLE ROOM

How much does the area of the United States total? Of Pennsylvania?

There are 3,026,789 square miles of territory in the United States, and 44,832 in the state of Pennsylvania.

ROYAL MATRIMONY

Who was the second wife of King Louis XI of France?

He married Charlotte of Savoy, a seven-year-old child, in 1451, when he was 28. The girl was the daughter of Louis I, the Duke of Savoy, and Anne de Lusignan, Queen of Cyprus.

REFLECTED HEAT

When a plane mirror is set in a ray of direct sunlight, what percentage of the heat is reflected?

Beyond the visible range newly produced mirrors of silver backing will reflect about 95 per cent of the incident radiation, according to E. R. Weaver, chemist of the bureau of standards.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK.—Doc Jesse Holmes, who babbles about philosophy at Swatmore College breezed into town the other day and gave a lecture at Columbia. Among other things he urged scrapping the pastoral definition of the Lord contained in the psalmist's verse "The Lord is my shepherd." He said that sort of thing is meaningless today because the average city dweller cannot be expected to know anything about sheep. As a substitute he suggested, to express this same reverence and faith.

"The Lord is my automobile's low gear to help me in climbing hard hills."

"The Lord is my antiseptic in times of dangerous epidemics."

Let us hope the idea never takes hold. You can't mix motors with Messiah. Angels and asperin do not co-exist.

And if the good Doc thinks New Yorkers know nothing about sheep let him travel in the subway for a week and change his opinion.

KNOW HIM WHEN

Brother Bob Coleman, one of the town's Drammer Drammers, was piping on the radio the other day and mentioned, in passing, that Harry Richmond, (Clara Bow's friend) used to be Mae West's piano player.

Longacre Lil, sitting in one corner of the studio, whispered to me: "When you see Mr. Coleman later, tell him he didn't go back far enough."

I never know half the time what Longacre Lil is talking about.

COUNTED OUT

Hughie O'Neill, the demon photographer, will probably not be at the races this year. Hughie is getting old and the paper he worked for twenty-five years, let him "out" the other day.

Some years ago Hughie was "covering" the races and boarded Lipton's yacht, the "Victoria" along with the other newspaper representatives. As was his custom, Sir Thomas invited the Inky Brethren into the "conference room" below deck where much spirited refreshment was ladled out.

Those were the days before Prohibition when it wasn't a sin to gargle Pomeroy and G-n-o.

Hughie, as usual, bled in late, after everyone's champagne glass had been filled.

CONSULTATIVE TREATIES LIKENED TO CLANDESTINE HEART AFFAIRS, CLOUDING FUTURE WITH DOUBTS

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—The young woman," philosophizes Senator Henrik Shipstead, "who, while seemingly adamant against some ardent suitor's importunities to elope with him, nevertheless is willing to discuss an elopement, may fairly be expected to land at Green Green sooner or later in that wooer's company."

"Personally," admitted the Minnesota statesman, "I have a prejudice against these clandestine affairs."

"They cloud the whole future with uncertainty."

"Those nearest and dearest to the girl ought to have an opportunity to meet the individual who is promising to make her so happy—to look him over—to investigate his antecedents thoroughly. He may have a past not at all in his favor."

"I have the same feeling," continued the Minnesotan, "concerning consultative facts in the realm of international matrimony."

"I object to an alliance, tying the United States to any other country. 'I even object to having the United States agree to consult with any other country on the subject of an alliance, for I am afraid that the alliance is what a consultation will lead us into.'"

"In fact," said the senator, "I am suspicious of the company that our American representatives have been keeping lately."

"When a group of delegations get together to discuss naval limitation, in the interests of world peace, and immediately fall to discussing their respective nations' naval requirements in the event of possible (or, shall I say, probable) future war, it does not sound peaceful to me."

"Indeed, I go so far as to question the desirability even of a peace bargain, if its obvious purpose is to keep the peace in order to enable the bachelors to hang onto what they grabbed in the last war."

For example—Senator Shipstead recently pointed out in some interesting language on the subject that Europe's Holy another glass for this gentleman." "Oh, that's all right," said O'Neill. "I'll get one."

Out he rushed into the galley where he picked up an abandoned condensed milk can, rinsed it, and returning, held it forth to Lipton's ministering hand.

Sir Thomas fell to laughing so hard he couldn't pour the champagne; but when the can had been filled and the contents quaffed, the master of the yacht said to Hughie: "Will you do me a favor? I'd like awfully if you'd give me that can as a souvenir. It's the first time in my long life I've ever seen a man drinking champagne out of a tin, you know."

Of course Hughie handed over the can.

Next day Sir Thomas sent for him "I want to talk to the chap who drank champagne out of a milk can. Where is he?"

And when Hughie appeared Lipton handed him an enameled shamrock stick pin with a pearl in the center.

"That's in exchange for the condensed milk container you gave me yesterday," he explained.

"They're both great men—Hughie and Sir Thomas."

Alliance, now regarded as one of history's ugliest diplomatic frame-ups (so much so that America's well-known Monroe Doctrine was promulgated as a warning to it to keep out of the new world), was as highly thought of at first as today's League of Nations.

"And doubtless," says the senator, "it was just as altruistically meant by the idealistic Czar Alexander, who inspired it."

"Unfortunately, more practical and unscrupulous experts promptly fixed it over to suit themselves, precisely as the same sort of folk de-natured Woodrow Wilson's concept of an international league a decade ago."

"No, a peace agreement to consolidate war gains," said the Minneapolis lawmaker, "is too contradictory to promise well."

"I would have more hopes of a treaty to prevent war acquisitions. 'Of course it is true enough that the winners, as well as the losers, lose by war, as it is fought in this generation, but nations do look forward to plunder when they take up arms—or at least look to plunder in part to offset their losses. If all plunder could be barred, by previous arrangement, which subsequently could be made effective, perhaps a real step in the direction of peace would have been taken.'"

"But a consultative pact!" concluded the senator.

"If it is proposed that we are to

Peter's Adventures

BUBBLES TO BREATHE WITH Peter's question so surprised Great Water Beetle that he straightened up and stared at the boy on the bank. As for pretty Mayfly, she chuckled.

"Wounded in battle!" As if he had not understood, Great Water Beetle repeated the boy's query. Then, suddenly, he understood.

"Oh, you think I must have been wounded because I have a hole in my back," said he. "Well, ease your mind, boy. I wasn't. Old Mother Nature, herself, gave me that hole on purpose, to suck the air through into my body. Perhaps you don't know it, but the under surface of my body is covered with air bubbles!"

If Peter had been astonished before, he now was dumbfounded.

"What do you want air bubbles around your green coat? Now I see it, now I don't. What is it?"

"To breathe with," promptly replied Great Water Beetle. "You see, being an insect I can't live like a fish who is satisfied with the air that is in the water. Every once in a while I have to come to the surface 'to take deep breaths. If I had to bob up every time I felt the pool growing close I'd be bobbing up all day long and getting all tired out with too much exercise. So when I rise I suck in enough air to last a long time, storing it in bubbles on my body." Peter was looking closely at the Beetle.

"There's a border of silver around your green coat? Now I see it, now I don't. What is it?"

"Air bubbles!" chuckled the Beetle. "Poof! Now they're all gone. I burst them and blew them away. Watch me make some more!"

Spinach Nests—Cook two quarts of well washed spinach in just as little water as possible for ten minutes. Drain and chop fine and season well with pepper, salt and a dash of mace. Butter individual casseroles of custard cups, place a border of the spinach in each one, forming the nests, break an egg into each nest, season nicely, drop a bit of butter in the center, pour in one or two teaspoonfuls of cream and cover with grated cheese. Bake until the egg is set. Serve in the baking dishes.

Green Onions in Cream Sauce—Trim neatly and scald a bunch of fresh green onions or scallions. Drain and place over the fire in freshly boiled salted water and cook ten minutes. Drain and season nicely with pepper, salt and paprika. Serve on strips of buttered toast and pour over a white sauce made in the usual way.

Piquant Lettuce—Separate into leaves and wash a head of tender lettuce. Dry well, then set aside. Drain and place over the fire in freshly boiled salted water and cook ten minutes. Drain and season nicely with pepper, salt and paprika. Serve on strips of buttered toast and pour over a white sauce made in the usual way.

GOOD FOR DIABETIC

Gluten Bread (Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe)

One cup water (warm), two and one-third cups gluten flour, one tablespoon yeast, one cake compressed yeast, one-half teaspoon salt. Put the yeast to soak in two additional teaspoons of warm water. When softened add remainder of the water, salt and butter. Add the flour and knead thoroughly for at least fifteen minutes. Mold, place in a buttered breadpan and let rise at ordinary kitchen temperature until the loaf has doubled its bulk. Then place in the oven. Bake in a moderate oven for one hour. This amount makes one small loaf.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

Inherited Defects

"Dear Doctor: I am in love with a young man but have not married him because he was born with one eye, and I am afraid that our children might be affected by this defect. Please, Doctor, help me solve this problem, as it worries me very much."

"MRS. K."

You do not give me enough data for me to give you much advice, Mrs. K. It may be possible that there was an injury to your fiancé's eye at birth, which caused its loss. If that was so, there would be no danger of transmission of the same trouble to his children. But, if it were a developmental defect during his growth in the embryo and fetus, that defect might be transmitted.

If I were you, I would try to get more of the history of your fiancé's case; look up his family and see if it has occurred in any of his ancestors, etc. Then, if it has, and you love him so dearly that you want to marry him, do so, and adopt children. Of course even though you had children of your own, they might not inherit his defect. But if it is a true developmental defect, they might, and their children might, too.

"Dear Doctor: When I last wrote to you (some time ago, and you probably have forgotten me), I was miserable, and yes, very fat. I tried time and time again to eat less and so reduce, but to no avail. I did not know what to stop eating nor what to eat while on a diet. At last, one day, I saw your article in the paper, and took the opportunity to ask for your booklet on Petersizing. That was a long time ago, but now every time I go by a full length mirror, or buy a new dress, I think of you and say 'Bless her,' for indeed I have much to be thankful for. I am not quite 18 years old. Am slightly over five feet tall and did weigh 150; now, after following your instructions and doing some exercises to make the flabby flesh firm, I weigh 129, and what's more, I'm going to stay there. 'I gave my friends the surprise of their lives. They had told me I would get sick if I tried to reduce, because I was too young. The laugh is on them! ROSE. 'P. S. I hope you don't mind my blessing!'"

Mind your blessing! Dear child, I thrive on blessings! Thank you for yours. There is nothing in your letter to comment on, except your friends' idea that it is harmful for young people to reduce. It is harmful, only if it is done unscientifically and carried to extremes—getting down to the extreme thinness that girls used to favor; (thank goodness, that is out of date).

Those who are interested in the Petersizing pamphlet that R. blesses me for, may have it by observing column rules.

Mrs. W.: A prolonged wrong diet is one of the things that will give that continuous tired feeling, especially in the morning. Toxemia (literally, poison in the blood) from any cause, chronic disease condition, sleeping in a poorly ventilated room, etc., are other causes. Do go to a competent physician and have a check-up of your general condition and health habits. We have an article on Balanced Diet which you may have.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column in their turn. Requests for articles or pamphlets on hand must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, plus the following "mail charge to help cover cost of printing and handling: for each article wanted, two cents in coin; for each pamphlet, ten cents in coin. The pamphlets are Reducing and Gaining, Hygiene of Women, Kidney and Bladder Disorders. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper. Write legibly, and not over 200 words.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

I am severely criticised for advising a woman who suspected her husband of loving her best friend—who, incidentally, was unhappy in her marriage—to feel sorry for the friend and to believe her husband when he vowed he loved only his wife but felt sorry for the friend. I should have advised the wife to use violence on the friend, says my indignant correspondent.

Of course that is the first impulse of any normal person whose mate is slipping from his or her allegiance. The primitive rage to smite and perhaps kill comes over even those who pride themselves on a background of centuries of culture. We want to make those who have made us suffer feel pain and humiliation, too. That is what fills the papers with stories of murders and suits for alienation of affection.

I can imagine that in some few cases violence or a threat of it, might be successful, but I don't believe it would in many cases. Beating and hair pulling and scratching of faces makes even a wronged wife look a bit ridiculous. Outsiders are quite apt to think that the husband of a woman with such a temper and fighting instincts is entitled to a bit of sympathy when he "steps out."

PIGEON TOES: Whether you should train for a teacher or for business depends much on which vocation you think you are best fitted for. If you can manage four years of high school, do it anyway, for you will find it very useful in business as well as in teaching. Of course if the four years of schooling is impossible, take the two and supplement it with outside studies later.

It never is too late to take extra work to fit yourself for still better positions.

"A STRANGER." You would not meet the best kind of girls at public dances, I am afraid, son. Do you ever go to church? In the young people's societies in connection with churches are usually a nice class of young people who welcome strangers. At the Y. M. C. A. you would meet some fellows in classes and games who might introduce you to girls they know.

How To Achieve Beauty

BODY MASSAGE ADVISED FOR POOR CIRCULATION
As my final article on physical fitness, I want to give you exercises for an amateur, but very effective body massage.

Supporting yourself by resting your hand on a chair or bedpost, rub the top of one foot with the sole of the other foot. Do this until your feet are thoroughly warmed, or until the muscles of your leg begin to tire. Then change to the other foot and do the movement for the same length of time.

With first one hand and then the other, rub the neck sideways, up and down the throat, and from the top of the back down the shoulder blades. In doing these rubbing exercises, go through them rapidly, all the while breathing deeply and steadily. The advanced form of the exercise is by rubbing the feet and neck at the same time, changing to the other foot and hand simultaneously. Both movements are pictured in Exercise I.

This exercise will aid in overcoming a tendency toward cold feet, and will develop a well-filled-in neck. The arm rubbing is done with the arms bent, consequently it is a good plan to stretch the arms at changing movements. Another circulation exercises calls for deep knee bending in combination with a vigorous arm-shoulder massage. Standing with feet apart, arms raised to a horizontal position in front of you, sink to a squatting position. Keeping heels on the floor and arms in a straight line. Rise, then bend again. Do this four times; rest. Then, with arms extended to the front (Exercise II), rub the left arm with a vigorous stroke of the right hand from fingertips to armpit, neck, and less vigorously down again. Do the same with the left arm, stroking the right arm. Doing this again, from the armpit stroke inwards across the breast, where the right hand must relax to slap the left shoulder blade as far back as it can reach. This is done also with the left arm slapping the right shoulder blade. The arms then assume their first position, outstretched toward the front. With each complete movement there must be a complete respiration.

If you find yourself troubled with poor circulation, you will find it worth while to concentrate on this exercise massage.

Then continue with your regular exercise movements and use the massage as a supplementary measure. You will find it helpful and invigorating.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

As we grow older, and that process is becoming so rapid that spectators may now stand in front of the window and watch it take place, we are becoming a confirmed believer in the truth of the adage that fact is stranger than fiction. Now we have the "synthetic quarterback" in football, hailed by psychologists as the gridiron world's first "perfect" snapper-back.

His name is Cale Crowley, a husky freshman at the University of Montana, whose home is in the city of Butte.

Scholastically this young frosh is "O. K." and as a result he will lead the Grizzlies in their football campaign next fall.

The method of selecting the "perfect field general" was unique. The university athletic and psychology departments conducted a series of tests and decided that Crowley possesses the necessary attributes of mental alertness, co-ordination of mind and muscle, cool-headedness and physical build to develop into a star gridiron performer.

Crowley is 18, tips the scales at 160 pounds in full uniform and is five feet, seven inches in height.

A bright football future for him is predicted by Major Frank J. Milburn, former West Point football player, and head football coach at Montana, who is well pleased with Crowley's selection.

In spring practice the youngster has already partly substantiated all the good things his professors said of him by tearing off ten and fifteen yards in line plunges and displaying an enthusiasm and pep that is promising.

Montana originated the "synthetic quarterback" test when the coach was faced with the task of uncovering a quarterback from green material. The coach was assisted in finding the right man by the psychology department of the school.

Coch Milburn is so enthused over the idea that he may conduct similar tests in the hope of filling up other gaps in the Grizzly lineup.

Indications are that the vaunted new batting punch of the Cincinnati Reds this season is more of an actuality than most fans believed.

One thing may be taken for granted, the presence of Harry Heilmann and Bob Meusel in the outfield will probably inspire other Red hitters to greater deeds. Whether Meusel will be of such value to the Reds remains to be seen. Although he is comparatively young as baseball players come and go, he smote the ball for only 261 last season with the Yankees and it may be that he has lost his cunning.

In the case of Heilmann, the former Detroit outfielder should fill a long felt want. Any player who was four times leader of the American League with averages of .294, .402, .393 and .398 and has never batted below .344 in the last eleven years ought to be able to smite National League pitching with much, if not more of his old skill.

Cincinnati uncorked some victorious batting in its opening game. Although collecting seventeen hits, the Reds nevertheless lost the game. On the following day the hitting was not all that it might have been, but Pete Donohue, Texas' gift to baseball, gave a hint that he may have a big season, by yielding only one run, and Cincinnati squared the series with Pittsburgh.

This is ancient history but the first two games tended to show two things; first, that the Reds have greater potential hitting power than for many years; second, that Donohue may be of great value in the box this season.

Interest in sandlot baseball has been on the wane in Xenia in recent years, but there should now be a revival because of the formation of a Junior American Legion baseball team, composed of boys under 17 years of age. The junior team will probably compete in the annual tournament sponsored by the Legion, nation-wide in scope.

MEXICAN KIDNAPER OF AMERICAN SLAIN

WASHINGTON, April 18.—One of the Mexicans who kidnaped Leonard B. Cassidy, Pea body, Mass., Tuesday has been killed and his colleagues are being pursued by Mexican soldiers, Leonard Dawson, American consul-general at Vera Cruz, cabled the state department today.

Cassidy was reported "safe and unharmed" in Tuxtpec, across the border from Vera Cruz. He was kidnaped by Mexicans discharged from the employ of the United Fruit Company. Cassidy is also an employee of the company.

LEAGUE TENNIS AND GOLF GAMES TO OPEN

Xenia Central High School's golf and tennis teams, now in the process of organization, will open their Miami Valley League season in matches with Troy High Tuesday, April 29. The matches will be played on the Trojan tennis courts and golf links. Indications are that the Buccaneers teams will be strong for several seasons past.

ANTIOCH DEFEATS EARLHAM AT TENNIS ON RICHMOND COURT

For the first time in three years of competition, Antioch College's undefeated Division "B" tennis team registered a 4 to 3 victory over Earlham College netmen at Richmond, Ind., Thursday afternoon.

In winning their second straight match, the Antioch racquet wielders emerged victorious in two of the five singles matches and both doubles matches.

The outcome was not decided until the final doubles match when Sloan and Wright, Antioch, were extended to three sets to defeat the Earlham combination of Johnson and Spalt, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

In a previous doubles match, Rutnam and Ayres, of Antioch, won from Reynolds and Sessions after two hard fought sets, 7-5, 8-6. Rutnam and Ayres registered victories for Antioch in the singles. The former disposed of Reynolds, Earlham, 6-1, 6-2 in convincing fashion, while Ayres beat Reid, Earlham, 6-2, 6-4.

Earlham's singles victories were recorded by Sessions, Outland and Johnson. Sessions trimmed Sloan, Antioch, 8-6, 6-0. Outland had his hands full to defeat Wright, Antioch, in three sets, 8-6, 0-6, 6-4, while Johnson easily defeated Spalt, Antioch, 6-0, 6-2.

AUTO PLUNGES THROUGH BRIDGE

TOLEDO, O., April 18.—A speeding automobile with an unknown number of occupants crashed through the gates of the Ash Conrail draw bridge here today and plunged into the Maumee River, forty feet below.

A man's scream was heard shortly after the automobile hit the water. The bridge, of the "jack-knife" type, had been opened to allow a large freight boat to pass out into Lake Erie.

A search of the river was made but it was futile. It is not known whether the driver of the machine was the sole occupant of the car. The automobile was said to have been traveling at a speed of about forty miles an hour when it leaped from the bridge approach into the stream.

Police will drag the river later today.

XENIA INDEPENDENT TEAM NOW RE-NAMED AS XENIA MERCHANTS

Name of Xenia's independent baseball team, for many years known as the Xenia Reserves, has been changed to the Xenia Merchants.

The change in name, according to Manager Jesse Chambliss, has been decided upon in recognition of the fact new uniforms obtained by the club last season were furnished through the courtesy of the local business men.

The local semi-pro club will formally open the 1930 diamond season Sunday afternoon at Washington Park, playing the strong Shroyer Cubs of Dayton. Play will be called at 3 o'clock.

The Xenia nine, stronger in some respects than last season, lost its first start a week ago to the Springfield field club. Clothing, 9 to 7, but this was only a practice game and Manager Chambliss experimented with a number of combinations, giving what they could do.

The Dayton Shroyer team is considered one of the best in that city and the Merchants will have to step high, wide and handsome in order to achieve their initial victory of the season.

It is probable that Ankeney, a likely-looking pitcher, who was with the local outfit last year, will be assigned to hurl Sunday's game.

THE MEANING OF EASTER

If Easter means anything at all beyond a mere church festival, it must mean that we face again the implications of fellowship with Christ. The world is far removed from the day in which Jesus lived, and yet the words which he spoke are as vital today as when they first fell upon the air of His native land, for human needs are ever the same. Worshipping Christ is meaningless unless it results in better living and in making real within ourselves His divine presence.

The church offers a sanctuary that we may find rest for our souls, inspiration to meet our daily problems and hope for the eternal life which Christ's death and resurrection made possible for us. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?—D. Carl Yoder.

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

Here is a lesson demonstrating the fact that one may have all human attainments, but if his motive is not right, then he is not in the Kingdom of God.

The one approaching Christ saying, "What good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life," had youth glowing with health and ambitions; he had wealth which if rightly used and gained is an honor to man releasing him from bondage and making possible many joys of life; he had an education, furnishing the power of intelligence; he had an influential position which widens and multiplies power; but above all he had an unspotted character as measured by the customs and laws of his day and character is of highest value; but there is a fine discrimination between moral character and Christian character which is to be found in the study of this lesson.

V. 17. "And he said unto him, why askest me concerning that which is good? One there is that is good; but if thou wouldst enter into life, keep the commandments." Jesus perceives that this young man wants to merit the kingdom; to do something to inherit eternal life—that is to receive it as right not of grace. To keep the commandments perfectly requires the help of God, Jesus led the young man's thinking by degrees, first quoting the commandments most easily kept omitting the first table of the decalogue and the commandment of covetousness.

V. 20. "The young man saith unto him, all these have I observed; what lack I yet?" This young man felt that he needed something else, though he possessed wealth, education, position and moral character. There is a deep spiritual need that can be satisfied only at the feet of Jesus.

V. 21. "Jesus said unto him, if thou wouldst be perfect, go, sell that which thou hast, and give to the poor and thou shalt have treasure in heaven." To be perfect is to show the proper expression of keeping the commandments with the help of God. There was a selfish core in the life of this young man—it was the common sin of all time, the love of money; in his case the only way to get the core out was to willingly give his wealth to the poor: it is necessary that one be willing to give the dearest he has for the kingdom of God; how often we are called upon to give up our earthly friend, but the victory comes when we surrender and really give up all for the kingdom.

V. 22. "But when the young man heard the saying, he went away sorrowful; for he was one that had great possessions." To everyone comes the moment to choose; this young man made the mistake of his life by going away from the One who could give him what he lacked. So far as we know, he never returned.

Vs. 23, 24. "And Jesus said unto his disciples, verily I say unto you, it is hard for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven. And again I say unto you, it is easier for a camel to go through the needle's eye than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven." The use of the word "verily" indicates that what is about to be said is of great importance. Great riches furnish great temptations as it makes one feel so well provided for that he does not need God; he may use his money power with such authority as to make himself a sort of god; he may become conceited and selfish without knowing it, covering up this sin with what might be called a liberal giving to worthy causes. Jesus uses a figure of speech common to his day to indicate the next to an impossible thing—a camel going through a needle's eye. However, there are many Old Testament characters that had considerable earthly possessions and they were counted in the kingdom. It is a question of what is one's heart's desire, the dominant motive the greatest object of love.

Vs. 25, 26. "And when the disciples heard it, they were astonished greatly saying, who then can be saved? And Jesus looking upon them said to them, with men this is impossible, but with God all things are possible." Salvation is not works but the result of the grace of God which is given on conditions of making Christ first.

V. 20. "The young man saith unto him, all these have I observed; what lack I yet?" This young man felt that he needed something else, though he possessed wealth, education, position and moral character. There is a deep spiritual need that can be satisfied only at the feet of Jesus.

V. 21. "Jesus said unto him, if thou wouldst be perfect, go, sell that which thou hast, and give to the poor and thou shalt have treasure in heaven." after every meal was so intense that I felt that I could not bear it a minute longer. I spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief, but no medicine nor treatment did me any good. My right leg was swollen to three times its natural size, and I lost much time from work.

"I was just about to give up trying to get better when my attention was attracted to Konjola. Well, to sum up my experience briefly, I took just six bottles of Konjola, and I am back at work every day, feeling fine and without a trace of my former health troubles. I gained ten pounds in six weeks. Sometimes I can scarcely believe such a thing possible, but this is exactly what Konjola did for me."

Konjola goes quickly to the source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. When taken over a period of six to eight weeks the results will amaze those with the most stubborn ailments.

Under the direction of the war department plans are being rapidly completed for the pilgrimage to Europe of American Gold Star mothers and widows of World War veterans buried overseas.

The movement which was sponsored by the American Legion, will get under way May 7 when the S. S. America will sail for France carrying widows and mothers from the state of Nebraska.

The priority of states was determined recently in a drawing made by Mrs. Herbert Hoover. The Legion departments which will immediately follow Nebraska are Florida, Delaware, Kentucky, Ohio, Arkansas, Iowa, Montana, Porto Rico and Oklahoma.

The plans have been worked out by the war department in such minute detail that each Gold Star mother or widow will be able to tell in advance, almost to the hour, how and where her time will be spent on the entire trip.

All arrangements have been made by the government and about the only thing those making the trip will have to do is to provide themselves with passports, and this procedure has been made as simple as possible. Transportation and expense money from their respective homes to New York will be sent in advance and on arrival they will be met by army officers and escorted to first class hotels where reservations have been made.

Of the two Gold Star mothers in Greene County eligible to make the pilgrimage in May, only one, Mrs. Lydia A. Charlton, 448 S. Monroe St., this city, will make the trip. Mrs. Charlton, who is 68 years old, is the mother of Charles L. Charlton, who lies buried in the Meuse-Argonne Cemetery in France.

Mrs. Charlton's stay in New York will be from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. At the proper time she will be escorted to the steamship on which passage has been arranged and quartered in cabin class accommodations. The ocean voyage will last about eight days and when the ship docks at Cherbourg, France, each party will be met by officers especially detailed for the purpose and taken in a special train to Paris, where first class hotel quarters have been reserved.

The first day in Paris will be devoted to resting. On the second day the women of each party will place a wreath on the tomb of the French unknown soldier and attend a reception in which the French war mothers, government officials and prominent civilians will participate. On the third morning the groups going to the different cemeteries will leave Paris, traveling in motor buses, and proceed to the cemeteries where they will remain for about seven days. Twenty-five women will be assigned to each bus and an army officer will have charge of the bus.

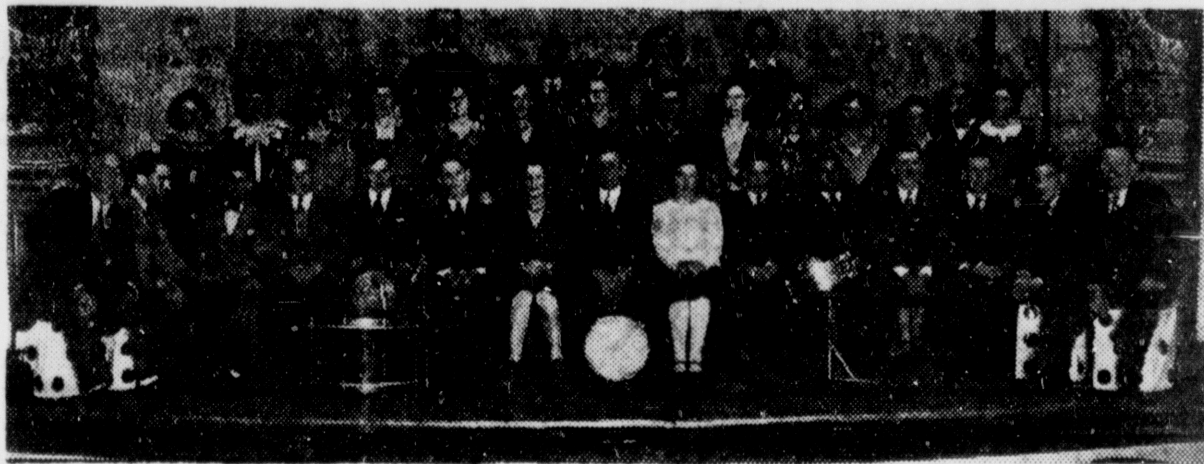

The itineraries to and from the cemeteries and the daily itineraries while at the cemeteries have been varied so as to take in points of historical interest as well as some parts of the battlefields where American troops were engaged. Upon return to Paris each party will remain for about five days and during this time an opportunity will be given to see the points of historical interest in Paris and vicinity. The entire duration of the stay in Europe will be fourteen days. Except in the case of illness or other unavoidable cause, it will not be possible for any woman taking the trip to remain in Europe for a longer period than fourteen days nor to leave the party with which she is traveling, unless she is prepared to pay all of her expenses after leaving the party.

TEST AUTO VIEWED HERE DURING WEEK

A Hudson Great 8 sedan being driven from Cincinnati on a seven day and night reliability non-stop run, locked in high gear, attracted attention here this week when it cruised Xenia streets.

The test was made by The Chas. Schlar Motor Car Co., Cincinnati and was launched last Saturday. The car returns to Cincinnati Saturday night. The car was operated on the test with the gear shift lever entirely removed.

ST. BRIGID PLAYERS TO PRESENT MINSTRELS

McCann, Dayton, former Xenian, is directing the cast and A. E. Kebble, member of the Xenia parish, is manager. The minstrel revue promises to be the most ambitious entertainment undertaking ever attempted by the parish and keen interest is being shown in the production. The players are, reading from left to right: first row—Fritz Haller, Phillip Campbell, John Ryan, Francis Gieger, Charles King, Leo Killen, Eleanor McDonnell, John McCann, director; Mrs. Katherine Farrell, James Kelbie, Charles Mangan, James Cain, Geo. Killen, William Kennedy and George Haller. Second row—Frances Grottenick, Katherine Graham, Mary Ashbaugh, Helen Graham, Margaret Ryan, Helen Downes, Ellen McCarran, Regina Downes, Elizabeth McCarran, Alsetta Gorham, Katherine Kelbie, Frances Haller, Amos Kelbie, manager and Ruth Galliger. Third row—Robert Killen, Guido Pesavento, Mary McDonnell and Hazel Galliger.

CENSUS PROCEEDS RAPIDLY IN XENIA

Taking of the fifteenth decennial census is progressing swiftly in Xenia but somewhat slowly in the rural districts of Greene County. It was indicated in reports made by twenty-one enumerators at the first check-up since the work began Friday in the assembly room at the Court House.

Progress being made was reported to Chester Mellon, assistant in the office of W. H. Story, Springfield, district census supervisor who also assisted the census takers by explaining any little points which are bothering them in making their daily rounds.

No more checkups on the enumerators will be made locally and as each census taker finishes his or her task, final reports will be submitted direct to Supervisor Story.

XENIA MINISTER IS HEARD IN BUFFALO DURING HOLY WEEK

Walking over snow and ice at the foot of the American Falls and seeing icicles formed on the trees by the heavy mist rising from the Canadian Falls, is reported by the Rev. J. P. Lytle, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, this city, who is preaching at the Second United Presbyterian Church in Buffalo, N. Y., this week.

The Rev. Mr. Lytle said in a letter here that there is little indication of Spring in the section of the country in which he is working as is in evidence in this city. Great masses of floating ice are seen on the lakes and Niagara River, he reports.

He also has seen the $65,000 gold trimmed and diamond decorated Pierce-Arrow car which was shipped from Buffalo to the Shah of Persia Tuesday. Because there was no gas in the tank Mr. Lytle says that he did not try out its riding qualities.

Much interest in special Lenten services is manifested throughout the city, according to Mr. Lytle. Large noon day meetings are being conducted and addressed at a downtown theater by Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, while practically all the churches of the city are holding evening meetings.

Dr. Walter Hopping, pastor of the church in which the Rev. Mr. Lytle is preaching, is well known in this city.

DAYTON MINISTER DELIVERS SERMON

Increased interest and attendance at the evangelistic meetings now being conducted at the First Baptist Church continue as the meetings progress.

Thursday evening the B. Y. P. U. Gospel Team of the Dayton Baptist Association had charge and presented a pleasing program consisting of solos, duets, congregational singing and Scripture reading. The Rev. Ralph Carson, pastor of the Third Street Baptist Church, delivered a thrilling sermon on the "Trial and Crucifixion of Jesus."

The Gospel Team of Denison University will arrive Friday afternoon and will have charge of the services throughout the remainder of the week and Sunday. There will be services Saturday evening at 7:30.

The variety of program offered by the Denison Gospel Team will prove the most interesting feature of the entire week, and the public is invited to all the services.

The Theater

Over in China where revolutions are revolutions and actresses often are men, Mei Lan-Fang, whose picture decorates today's column, is one of the peers of the stage.

Giving examples of his art in this country recently, Mei Lan-Fang has puzzled critics and playgoers, in spite of the pretenses of many to understand his acting in the Chinese manner.

This reporter believes the visit of the Chinese actor here has academic interest only. Your correspondent has no hankering to view the Oriental art as expressed by this perverted laundryman and is of the opinion that anybody who raves over Mei Lan-Fang as an actor is doing so for effect.

Yet even his fellow actors in China concede that he is the greatest female impersonator in their country. Women are not allowed on the Chinese stage, and consequently there are many female impersonators, which adds to Mei Lan-Fang's glory.

His favorite amusement is taking watches apart. He began playing stage roles at the age of seven, just as did his father, grandfather and great-grandfather. He has an income of hundreds of dollars yearly now, but is, nevertheless, modest and a bit bashful.

Mei Lan-Fang gets considerable amusement out of reading the criticisms of critics who just pretend to understand the technique of the Chinese drama. He likes phonographs but detests subways. He doesn't get perturbed when Occidentals call him Mr. Fang instead of Mr. Mei. The Chinese performer is thirty-five years of age and wears western clothes on the streets in America instead of the flowing garb he prefers, because he doesn't want to appear conspicuous.

A Tonic and Nerve for Young Girls and Women

Ashtabula, Ohio—"When I was a girl in my teens I suffered from functional disturbances, this caused me to have severe backaches and get into a nervous and run-down state of health. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it corrected my trouble and I got well and strong and never had any return of this condition. I highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and nerve for young girls and women." — Mrs. May C. Gray, R. F. D. 3, All dealers.

Keep Coal At Hand

Don't let your coal cellar stay empty just because we have occasional spells of warm weather. It only makes it more dangerous to the health of the family when the sudden changes come and winter again pounces down. Keep enough coal in the cellar to heat the house comfortably on short notice. You cannot afford to take risks on your health.
